

Classical Greek and Roman Studies Examiner Responsible needed for the International Baccalaureate®

The International Baccalaureate® (IB) is currently seeking an experienced individual to take on the role of Examiner Responsible for its Classical Greek and Roman Studies course.

The International Baccalaureate® (IB) is a non-profit educational foundation offering challenging programmes for a worldwide community of schools. It is now represented in over 145 countries and in over 4,600 schools. The IB provides an international pre-university curriculum and an international university entry qualification, which gives access to higher education on a worldwide basis. You may be interested to visit the public website at www.ibo.org for more details.

One of the characteristics of the IB's Diploma Programme is that students are required to study, as one of six subjects that constitute the diploma, one course from the "individuals and societies" subject group, courses commonly collectively known as the human sciences or social sciences. In essence, these subjects explore the interactions between humans and their environment in time, space and place.

The IB's Classical Greek and Roman Studies course is a standard-level subject that introduces students to the history and culture of ancient Greece and Rome, and, through these, to a wider study of individuals and societies. Students explore different kinds of evidence for these two cultures: the literary record, thought to be representative of the best of the creative and political achievements of these societies, as well as an archaeological record that is often suggestive of wider contexts for investigation.

The duties of Examiner Responsible include the setting and marking of examinations and may involve occasional (paid) travel to the IB Global Centre, Cardiff, UK.

Outline information about this role, as well as the application form and recruitment policy can be found at: <http://ibo.org/jobs-and-careers/become-an-examiner-or-assessor/chief-and-deputy-chief-examiner/>

Please note that this position is part-time, involves no relocation, and is usually undertaken in addition to existing work commitments. Examiners will be given clear instructions and be well supported throughout the process.

We are seeking an experienced individual with the following background:

- Qualified to at least degree level in Classical civilizations or related subject
- Knowledge of Greek and Roman history, literature, arts and religion
- Teaching experience
- Examining experience (desirable but not essential).

We would be very keen to hear from all individuals with the above experience.

If you wish to apply, or would like further information, please contact the Examiner Training and Recruitment Department by e-mail (examiners@ibo.org)
