Discover a new path on your IB journey

IB certificate in teaching and learning

As you pursue the IB certificate in teaching and learning, you will examine the principles and practices associated with one of the four IB programs—Primary Years Program (PYP), Middle Years Program (MYP), Diploma Program (DP) and Career-related Program (CP). The courses that lead to this certificate shape pre-service, new and experienced educators into reflective practitioners and teacher researchers. To be eligible, participants must successfully complete:

either

an IB-recognized graduate program for licensed teachers

or

an IB-recognized pre-service program (graduate or undergraduate). This must incorporate a significant period of practicum teaching within an IB World School.

To be eligible to register for the IBCTL, those completing an IB-recognized program of study must also meet the following conditions:

a. Hold an initial qualification that is the first degree of a university or other institution or hold a qualification and/or experience that is deemed equivalent.

and either:

b. Have a recognized teaching qualification. The IB does acknowledge that some experienced IB teachers may not hold a current teaching qualification. In such cases, the IB may waive this requirement if the teachers concerned have a minimum of three years full-time professional teaching experience in a government-approved/registered school in the subject or age domain in which they intend to register for the certificate. This experience can be within an independent or private school, provided the school is registered by the relevant national education authority.

or

c. Gain a recognized teaching qualification as a result of completing the IB-recognized program of study.

IB advanced certificate in teaching and learning research

Educators who pursue the IB advanced certificate in teaching and learning research wish to supplement their existing IB experience with rigorous, systematic investigative work to further their knowledge and experience. You will delve deeper into curriculum development, pedagogy and assessment through the exploration of relevant literature and your own IB practices. Educators will need at least three years of documented IB teaching experience to earn this certificate.

To be eligible to register for the IBACTLR, participants must successfully complete an IB-recognized graduate program offered at master's level or higher.

In addition, participants will be expected to have taught for a minimum of three years in an IB programme. This teaching experience should normally be completed by the time candidates complete the IB-recognized program of study. This requirement must be met before students register for the certificate.

IB certificates in leadership

Empowering leaders in international education

IB certificate in leadership practice

The IB certificate in leadership practice is for those who want to develop their capacity to take on leadership responsibilities in IB contexts. Participants new to the IB context develop and refine their capacity to play a role in guiding a school through IB authorization, and educators experienced in the IB context grow their capacity to support learning and teaching through effective programme implementation and development.

To be eligible to register for the IBCLP, participants must successfully complete an IB-recognized graduate program. The IBCLP does not have eligibility requirements in terms of professional experience or prerequisite academic qualifications.

IB advanced certificate in leadership research

The IB advanced certificate in leadership research develops students' profound understanding of leadership responsibilities and capabilities through rigorous investigative work in IB leadership contexts and deep reflection on their own leadership practice.

To be eligible, participants must successfully complete an IB-recognized graduate program offered at master's level or higher. The IBACLR does not have eligibility requirements in terms of professional experience or prerequisite academic qualifications.

The process of inquiry empowered me as a learner, and I gained deeper understanding of the importance of learner-centered curriculum. The internationalism encourages both me and my students to respect various cultures and to embrace the differences.

Curtin University is a future-focused university based in Perth, Australia, with additional campuses in regional Western Australia, Malaysia, Singapore, Dubai and Mauritius. The University is recognized for its strengths in teaching and research innovation, which is reflected in its standing as Western Australia's top public university for graduate and postgraduate employment (Good Universities Guide 2021). Curtin University's School of Education has extensive expertise in delivering high quality, fully online learning programs.

IB EDUCATOR CERTIFICATES

IB certificate in teaching and learning Bachelor of Education

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

Building on our reputation for excellence in online learning, the units focused on IB programs represent current, attractive, easily navigable and highly interactive online learning experiences supported by dedicated academic staff. Students admitted to the Bachelor of Education degree with Curtin University who choose to complete the full suite of four IB units as part of their program will graduate with the IB certificate in teaching and learning as well as the bachelor's degree. In addition, graduates who complete the IB units as part of their Bachelor of Education program will satisfy the requirements for a primary education specialization.

Study in three of the units is open to all students to enrol through Open Universities Australia, including students enrolled in Curtin degree programs. Please note that while you may enrol in individual units via Open Universities Australia, you will only be eligible to register for the certificate in teaching and learning if you complete the units as part of the Bachelor of Education.

REQUIRED COURSES

To qualify for the IB certificate in teaching and learning, students must successfully complete the four units listed below as part of the Bachelor of Education.

1. Introduction to the International Baccalaureate
(25 credit points)
2. Either: IB Primary Years Program OR IB Middle Years Program (25 credit points)
3. The International Baccalaureate in Action
(25 credit points)
4. Final Professional Experience (The Internship)
(100 credit points)— In a recognized IB World School (full time placement as per standard requirements for the Internship unit)

Please note that students are not required to complete all four units, but the IB certificate in teaching and learning can only be awarded if all four are successfully completed as part of the Bachelor of Education. Note that units 3 and 4 cannot be undertaken unless units 1 and 2 have been successfully completed or credited from another institution.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Enrolment into the following courses is open to all via Open Universities Australia:

- Introduction to the International Baccalaureate
- IB Primary Years Program
- IB Middle Years Program.

Taking these units individually does not make one eligible for the IB certificate in teaching and learning.

Students who wish to enrol in the BEd should visit Curtin's "Find your course" page and search for undergraduate education degrees.

HOW TO APPLY

Enrolment in each unit is undertaken through the Open Universities Australia website.

Students not already admitted to the BEd who are interested in pursuing the BEd and gaining the IB certificate in teaching and learning will need to enrol via the Open Universities Australia website and meet all eligibility criteria before applying to the Bachelor of Education with Curtin University.

The University of Notre Dame Australia was established in December 1989. Since its inception, it has become a leader in higher education with over 11,000 students enrolled across its campuses in Fremantle, Broome and Sydney. Notre Dame specializes in the education and training of young people for entry into major professions. The university attracts students from a range of cultural and religious backgrounds, which produces an exciting and vital atmosphere on campus. It is a small university which offers a personal approach to teaching, with small classes and individual support to ensure student needs are met. As outlined in the university's Objects, Notre Dame provides an excellent standard of pastoral care for students and training for professions in a context of Catholic faith and values.

Master of Philosophy (Education)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

Notre Dame's School of Education, Sydney, is a leading contributor to the vocation of teaching. Our fully accredited teaching programs produce passionate, classroom-ready graduates who are valued by prospective employers across early childhood, primary education and secondary education.

The requirements for obtaining an IB certificate in teaching and learning (PYP) and IB certificate in teaching and learning (DP) can be undertaken as a course within the undergraduate primary degree or secondary degree, respectively. Notre Dame is the only university in NSW to offer the IB educator certificates in an undergraduate program.

Both certificates (PYP, DP) can also be taken as a graduate certificate at postgraduate level.

The Master of Philosophy (Education) gives students the opportunity to undertake research in any of the IB programs (PYP, MYP, DP or CP).

Students in these programs have the opportunity to undertake their professional placements in IB schools in Australia and around the world.

The Logos program, Notre Dame's core curriculum, introduces students to the great liberal arts tradition of the study of ideas and thinking. It aims to enrich students' education by introducing them to philosophy, ethics and theology. The program encourages students to think, choose and live their lives based on good reasoning.

Our university undertakes service-learning projects in the diverse settings of India, Timor-Leste and Tanzania. These give students an opportunity to represent Notre Dame in an international setting and benefit from all the peripheral opportunities of being part of a volunteer group for a sustained period.

REQUIRED COURSES

Bachelor of Primary Education and Bachelor of Secondary Education: IB pathway components are integrated throughout the courses and professional experience is included in the degree. Students must undertake a mandatory 25-credit point course, EDUC2045 IB Education, Primary Years and Diploma Programs, and complete all the courses in their degree to qualify for the IB certificate in teaching and learning.

Graduate Certificate in International Baccalaureate Education: Includes four 25-credit courses delivered over a year.

Master of Philosophy (Education): Includes four courses totaling approximately 120 hours, together with a dissertation, which comprises two-thirds of the degree.

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

For pre-service teachers, the IB certificate programs run as part of the regular 10-month Bachelor of Education (School Years) program at UNB. In addition to the regular requirements of the BEd, students in the IBEC stream will be paired with an IB mentor teacher, complete two professional courses related to the IB—a minimum of seven weeks of their regular student teaching internship in an IB context—and focus the required end-of-program project on an IB theme. Successful candidates will graduate with an internationally recognized education degree and receive an IB certificate in teaching and learning for one of three IB programmes (PYP, MYP or DP). For details, see the program webpage.

For practicing teachers, UNB offers the IBEC in teaching and learning for DP and PYP teachers. These certificates are completed online.

REQUIRED COURSES

International Educators Certificate for International
Baccalaureate (IB) Qualification

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The International Educator Certificate for IB Qualification program of study is recognized by the IB and offers the IB certificate in teaching and learning (PYP, MYP and DP). This certificate offers students the opportunity to examine the principles and practices associated with one of three IB programs (Primary Years, Middle Years and Diploma Program), and as a highly valued credential, will help open teaching opportunities. As a leading institution in Ontario to offer this teaching qualification for educators, applicants qualifying for DP courses must specify their intended specialization in one of the six content areas: studies in language & literature, language acquisition, individuals and society, sciences, mathematics and arts.

This program is comprised of four online courses and a practical component. The practical component consists of a professional learning community (PLC) facilitated online. Thus, practicing teachers can satisfy all certificate requirements fully online from anywhere in the world.

The program is available to practicing teachers, current Year 1 and Year 2 Bachelor of Education students as well as international educators. With three intakes per year—students can start in January, June or September—the IB certificate program is flexible for pre-service, new and experienced educators. Complete the certificate at your own pace in as little as eight months.

REQUIRED COURSES

- IEC 000 - Curriculum Processes (PYP, MYP, DP)
- IEC 001 - Teaching and Learning (PYP, MYP, DP)
- IEC 002 - Assessment and Evaluation (PYP, MYP, DP)
- IEC 003 - Professional Learning (PYP, MYP, DP)
- IEC 005 - Professional Learning Community

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Students are granted admission to the program upon satisfying the following requirements:

- A bachelor's degree
AND
- have completed or are currently completing a recognized teaching qualification from any jurisdiction in the world
OR
- a minimum of three years of teaching experience, confirmed by a letter(s) from your employer(s).

In addition, for admission to the program in the DP stream, we require a copy of a student's undergraduate transcripts showing 10 half credits in their chosen specialization.

To process a student's application to the program, the admissions team requires proof of the above requirements, translated into English if needed.

Executive Master of Arts in International Educational Leadership and Change (IELC)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Executive Master of Arts in International Educational Leadership and Change (IELC) is a part-time and online postgraduate program. It targets aspiring and practicing leaders working at international schools or schools offering international programs in the Asia-Pacific region. The program is designed to develop leaders with the capacity to operate successfully in an international leadership environment and to lead educational change.

The online mode enriches the learning experience and provides participants with the flexibility to integrate and manage their study and professional commitments.

The courses are taught by a team of internationally recognized scholars and experienced school leaders who possess a deep understanding of education in Asian and global contexts.

Practicing and aspiring school leaders, including principals, middle leaders, teacher leaders, curriculum leaders and NGO managers, are encouraged to apply. Participants should also be highly motivated, ambitious and willing to question and share expertise.

Participants who complete the IELC are eligible to attain the IB certificate in leadership practice and the IB advanced certificate in leadership research. The content of IELC courses has been designed to ensure that IB resources and issues are incorporated into materials and instructional activities.

Some of the highlights of this program include:

- Online delivery
- World-class leadership development
- Asia-Pacific perspectives
- Leadership across cultures

The Aga Khan Academies are not-for-profit IB World Schools being established in 18 locations across 14 countries by His Highness the Aga Khan. The Academies select students based on merit, regardless of their socio-economic, cultural or religious backgrounds. Four of the Aga Khan Academies—in Mombasa, Hyderabad, Maputo and Dhaka—currently operate with the mission of educating future leaders to a high international standard, including an emphasis on ethics, pluralism and community service. Our Teacher Preparation Programme plays a significant role in the realization of this mission.

Aga Khan Academies (AKA) Teacher Preparation Program (TPP)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Aga Khan Academies (AKA) Teacher Preparation Program (TPP) is an 18 month in-school mentored practicum that trains new teachers to teach the IB programs (PYP, MYP and DP). The program is held in a multicultural environment where learning is enriched by the Aga Khan strands of ethics, pluralism, economics for development, cultures, and governance & civil society.

Problem-Based Learning allows participants to move between theory and practice and take increasing responsibility in teaching and pastoral roles. The TPP is offered in partnership with the University of British Columbia, which provides quality assurance and external assessment services. Upon completion, candidates qualify for an IB certificate in teaching and learning in the IB program they aim to teach and those who are offered a teaching position with the Aga Khan Academies must commit to a three-year term.

REQUIRED COURSES

The 18-month course entails the following:

- Teaching Practicum: Spread over three phases. Working with a senior teacher, the candidate takes a 20-80, 80-20 and 90-10 responsibility as they progress through the phases.
- Taught curriculum: The IB certificate in teaching and learning is explored through the Problem-Based Learning Approach.
- Action Research: This is a supported independent study that culminates into a high-quality report and presentation at the TPP Action Research Conference.
- Thought Piece: This is a supported Independent Study that entails a critical analysis of a contemporary issue in IB teaching and learning.
- Teaching Portfolio: This is developed based on the assessment criteria clearly defined by the University of British Columbia, our external assessors.

Post Graduate Diploma in International Education

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Post Graduate Diploma in International Education (PGDIE) is an academic program designed as a dual qualification for in-service teachers in schools in India or abroad. It is a one-year program, structured to be delivered in blended mode. To keep up with the best international and evidence-based practices, the award of the IB educator certificate makes the academic program additionally rewarding. The online learning segment enables the in-service teachers to balance their commitments, continue working in schools, and further their education. On successful completion of the PGDIE program, the IB awards the IB educator certificate in teaching and learning.

Course modules, aligned with IB philosophy, mission, standards and practices, prepare teachers for international education settings. The online portion comprises video conferencing, online presentations and webinars. Workshops led by international and Indian IB educators are a rich resource of professional learning and networking. The mandatory teaching internship provides opportunities for the PGDIE candidates to learn from IB mentors and practice. All students are introduced to the “whole person” education philosophy—a holistic teaching approach—which represents the vision and mission of CHRIST (Deemed to be University).

IB Teacher Education Program

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The IB mission statement, which is the backbone of the IB Teacher Education Program (DP) offered at Kwansei Gakuin University (KGU), aligns perfectly with the KGU mission statement as expressed in its motto “Mastery for Service”. As such, the program provides further opportunities for students to become well rounded and responsible world citizens and educators.

The IB Teacher Education Program (DP) is a practical course designed to work its way through teaching, learning and assessment, and professional learning. The final course provides the unique opportunity to work in IB World Schools, mainly Senri & Osaka International Schools of Kwansei Gakuin, which is the first school in Japan authorized to offer three IB Programmes.

The IB Teacher Education Program (DP) is integrated into the national teacher training course at KGU, meaning students can obtain the IB certificate in teaching and learning, DP, together with the national teaching license.

"The path to recovery for a war-devastated nation is through education!" It is with such belief that our founder embarked upon his career as an educator in post-World War II Hiroshima. Having experienced the bitterness of war, he also espoused strong cross-border friendships as a means to prevent hatred and misunderstandings that can lead to war. True to our founder's vision, our university continues to strive towards an education with an emphasis on international-mindedness and global cooperation.

Certificate for Teaching in a Global Context

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

At OUS, students in any major can obtain the Certificate for Teaching in a Global Context alongside the national teaching license. The courses aim not only to promote the IB's mission and principles, but also to foster students' international-mindedness and critical thinking ability through inquiry-based instruction.

In addition, the Certificate for Teaching Math/Science in the IBDP encompasses advanced knowledge and an inquisitive approach to scientific subjects against the backdrop of OUS's established track record of training pre-service teachers in the sciences.

By engaging in the inquiry-based format of the IB curriculum, we believe that we can further improve the quality of the teacher training programs we have developed while also promoting active learning in university education.

OUS is the first university in Japan to offer the IB educator certificates in an undergraduate program. Students can do their field study at our affiliated high school, which is the first authorized IB high school in Okayama.

The philosophy of Seirei Christopher University (SCU) is based on "Dignity of Life" and "Love Thy Neighbor". The origins of the Seirei Group began in 1930 when our founders devoted themselves to the care of tuberculosis patients without concern for financial reward, despite the risk of becoming infected themselves. SCU has inherited this spirit of love and service, and it has been working to develop professionals in the fields of healthcare, welfare and education. SCU is the only university to offer the IBEC program in the Tokai Hokuriku region of Japan.

Tamagawa Academy is a K-16 educational institution housed on a beautiful 60-hectare campus surrounded by forests and hills in Tokyo's western suburb of Machida. The school was founded in 1929 by Kuniyoshi Obara, an influential Japanese education reformer, guided by his theory of "Zenjin Education"—education of the whole person. The university consists of seventeen departments in nine undergraduate faculties, as well as nine programs leading to a master's degree and three programs leading to a doctorate degree. The IB Teacher Education Program at Tamagawa University is the first teacher-training program in Japan to offer the IB educator certificate.

IB Teacher Education Program (Non-Degree)

IB advanced certificate in teaching and learning research

IB Teacher Education Program (Master of Education)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

In the spirit of the educational principles of “Zenjin”, or the whole person, the IBEC programs offered at Tamagawa University are about developing holistic educators. They help practitioners learn not just how to teach but how to learn as reflective practitioners. They are also designed to encourage practitioners to evaluate their work deeply and reach considered conclusions about their practice under the educational framework guided by the pedagogical principles and philosophy of the IB.

Located on the same campus as the university, Tamagawa Academy K-12 is an authorized IB World School. The Academy can provide access and opportunities for IBEC candidates to understand the processes involved in educational research as research practitioners in an IB environment.

IB Teacher Training Program (IB TTP)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The IB certificate in teaching and learning (MYP or DP) is awarded with the Master of Education in Teaching, which is offered with the completion of the professional degree program Advanced Studies on Transforming Educational Practice. It aims to develop reflective educators and school leaders who play a central role in school-wide initiatives to address issues in education today and who spearhead the resolution of issues in collaboration with teachers, parents, guardians, community members and specialists. The IB community of approximately 30 graduate students is a unique mix of aspiring pre-service to experienced in-service educators. Students learn IB principles and practices with professors who were IB practitioners, and they study in close contact with current IB educators at an affiliated IB World School.

Gakugei's own IB World Schools and extensive network of IB educators come together to create a deeply reflective learning environment.

The Aga Khan Academies are not-for-profit IB World Schools being established in 18 locations across 14 countries by His Highness the Aga Khan. The Academies select students based on merit, regardless of their socio-economic, cultural or religious backgrounds. Four of the Aga Khan Academies—in Mombasa, Hyderabad, Maputo and Dhaka—currently operate with the mission of educating future leaders to a high international standard, including an emphasis on ethics, pluralism and community service. Our Teacher Preparation Programme plays a significant role in the realization of this mission.

IB EDUCATOR CERTIFICATES

IB certificate in teaching and learning
Aga Khan Academies (AKA) Teacher Preparation Program (TPP)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Aga Khan Academies (AKA) Teacher Preparation Program (TPP) is an 18 month in-school mentored practicum that trains new teachers to teach the IB programs (PYP, MYP, and DP). The program is held in a multicultural environment where learning is enriched by the Aga Khan strands of ethics, pluralism, economics for development, cultures, and governance & civil society.

Problem-Based Learning allows participants to move between theory and practice and take increasing responsibility in teaching and pastoral roles. The TPP is offered in partnership with the University of British Columbia, which provides quality assurance and external assessment services. Upon completion, candidates qualify for an IB certificate in teaching and learning in the IB program they aim to teach and those who are offered a teaching position with the Aga Khan Academies must commit to a three-year term.

REQUIRED COURSES

The 18-month course entails the following:

- Teaching Practicum: Spread over three phases. Working with a senior teacher, the candidate takes a 20-80, 80-20 and 90-10 responsibility as they progress through the phases.
- Taught curriculum: The IB certificate in teaching and learning is explored through the Problem-Based Learning Approach.
- Action Research: This is a supported independent study that culminates into a high-quality report and presentation at the TPP Action Research Conference.
- Thought Piece: This is a supported Independent Study that entails a critical analysis of a contemporary issue in IB teaching and learning.
- Teaching Portfolio: This is developed based on the assessment criteria clearly defined by the University of British Columbia, our external assessors.

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

In this program, interdisciplinary themes of pedagogy are emphasized, focusing on the development of children (3-10 years old) in their first years of education as they learn to investigate the classroom and the outside world. The transdisciplinary nature of the PYP is another benefit for our trainee teachers, as they internalize pedagogical know-how—which is flexible and adapts to the requirements of most of the national and local curricula—as well as the knowledge and skills derived from the emphasis on inquiry, which they prepare to pass on to their own classrooms.

REQUIRED COURSES

IB-infused theoretical courses:

- Pedagogy of Primary Education (4 ECTS*, 107 credit hours)
- Curriculum Content Integration Methodology (4 ECTS, 107 credit hours)
- Curriculum Design and Management (3 ECTS, 80 credit hours)
- Inclusive Education (3 ECTS, 80 credit hours)

IB-infused practical courses:

- Language Education in an Intercultural Context (4 ECTS, 107 credit hours)
- STEAM Education (6 ECTS, 160 credit hours)
- Individual Progress Assessment Strategies (3 ECTS, 80 credit hours)
- Pedagogical Practice in the Supervision of the Mentor 2 (7 ECTS, 186 credit hours)

*ECTS: European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System

Bachelor's of International Teacher Education for Secondary Schools (ITESS)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

NHL Stenden's International Teacher Education (ITE) programs have evolved and become established through collaboration with other teacher training programs and partnerships with international schools and organizations across the globe.

The ITE programs are designed to foster professional competencies that align with the values of the International Baccalaureate, promoting intercultural understanding and respect.

Both of our bachelor's programs are based in Meppel in the Netherlands. This facilitates the sharing and deepening of expertise, ultimately enhancing the quality of each program. The teaching staff is internationally diverse, hailing from all corners of the globe, which brings a wealth of perspectives to the teaching and learning experience. Many ITE faculty members have professional teaching and leadership experience in IB schools, similar to the schools where students will undertake their teaching practice and potential future employment.

The guiding principles and pre-service teacher profile of the ITE programs at NHL Stenden closely align with the vision and curricular approaches of the IB. The university has developed a Design-Based Education approach, which is founded on collaborative inquiry, interdisciplinary learning and inclusive pedagogical practices. The courses in the three programs have been developed to give students collaborative design opportunities to develop knowledge, skills and understanding related to real-world issues in education. Moreover, our ITE degree programs provide numerous opportunities for extensive annual teaching practice in a diverse array of national and international schools that offer the PYP and MYP.

Our diverse student body, representing many nationalities, is united by a shared aspiration: to make the world a better place through international education. Our students possess a curiosity for staying informed about the latest advancements in research-based, effective and inclusive educational methods.

Graduate Certificate in International Education (IBEC)

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Graduate Certificate in International Education (IB Educator Certificate in teaching and learning, PYP, MYP and DP) at Handong is a flexible program for newly qualified teachers or experienced teachers new to IB education. The certificate is offered as a standalone postgraduate program or as part of the Master of Education and focuses on teaching and learning in the Primary Years Program (PYP), the Middle Years Programme (MYP) or the Diploma Programme (DP).

Candidates in the program will gain a deep understanding of the core principles and practices that drive IB programmes and will develop the knowledge, understanding and skills necessary to enhance one's teaching in the PYP, MYP and DP. Furthermore, candidates will have opportunities to learn best classroom practices that are research-based, from experienced IB educators, as they reflect upon and critique their own practice, share and listen to one another's experience, and take part in an autonomous and collaborative learning that suits different learning styles.

The program aims to develop future IB educators who are internationally minded, reflective in their practice, possess a deep understanding of how students learn, and how educators can effectively support their learning. Our program is a blended program with the flexibility for in-service teachers to take courses online wherever they may be located. In addition, students meet in person for a 4 day immersive, on-campus experience during the winter and summer breaks, where they will have time to collaborate with IB practitioners and work on various hands-on projects related to teaching and learning in the PYP, MYP and DP.

REQUIRED COURSES

The following courses will enable candidates to explore four areas of inquiry within the Diploma Programme with respect to the principles and practices that embody IB education. Total: 8 credits

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

Inha University's mission of "improving the nation as well as all human society" aligns with the IB's mission to "create a better and more peaceful world through education." As such, the IBEC program enables students to learn the International Baccalaureate's pedagogy and principles through four areas of inquiry. It aims to enable participants to become effective teachers, thus building their capacity to help students develop competencies needed to be successful in a complex and rapidly changing globalized world. The MA in Innovative Education will further enhance students' knowledge and skills in order for them to become transformative agents of change in education. Separate from the MA program, teachers can apply for the Graduate Certificate in International Education, a non-degree one-year program that provides participants the opportunity to obtain the IB Educator Certificate.

REQUIRED COURSES

To be eligible for the IB educator certificate in teaching and learning, DP, whether in the IB Educator Certificate Program or in the Master of Arts in Innovative Education, the following courses are required:

- Teaching and Learning in the IB (3 credits)
- Curriculum Development and Design in IB (3 credits)
- Assessment in IB (3 credits)
- Professional Learning in the Context of International Education (3 credits)
- Practicum (1 credit)

To graduate with the Master of Arts in Innovative Education, students must complete the above courses plus an additional 15 credit hours.

PYP

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

This certificate program is designed for pre-service teachers in the final year of their bachelor's degree, newly qualified teachers and experienced educators who wish to pursue teaching careers at PYP schools. Students who enrol in this program gain a comprehensive understanding of the IB programmes with a specific focus on the PYP, and they become a part of the IB Educator Network (IBEN) community in Türkiye and internationally.

Each course during the five-month program is a combination of asynchronous and synchronous online sessions. As the program consists primarily of online sessions, students can individually manage much of their study time. Students also participate in an additional two weeks of field experience, including a one-day in-person experience at an authorized PYP school. Students can meet this requirement by visiting our partnering school (i.e., MEF Schools, Istanbul) if needed.

REQUIRED COURSES

To be eligible for the IB certificate in teaching and learning, PYP, students must complete the following courses:

- Education in International Context (3 credits)
- Approaches to Teaching and Learning in the IB PYP (3 credits)
- Evidencing Learning the IB PYP (3 credits)
- Planning and Inquiry-Based Learning in the IB PYP (3 credits)

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

This program is designed for educators interested in teaching the PYP. Pre-service teachers (with a CGPA of 2.50 or above at the start of their graduation year), as well as recent graduate teachers and experienced educators who hold a national teaching qualification and teach the subjects listed below are eligible to apply.

- Classroom/Homeroom
- Drama
- Language
- Mathematics
- Physical Education
- Science
- Social Studies

In-service teacher applicants must hold a national teaching qualification by the time of application for this program. If they don't hold this at the time of graduation, when they wish to apply for the certificate in teaching and learning, they must show proof that they will hold a license in the near future.

- The IB does acknowledge that some experienced IB teachers may not hold a current teaching qualification. In such cases, teachers must have a minimum of three years full-time professional teaching experience in a government-approved/registered school in the subject or age domain in which they intend to register for the certificate in teaching and learning.

Pre-service teacher applicants must provide a successful record of accomplishment (i.e., a CGPA of 2.50 or higher at the start of their graduation year) or a national teaching certificate by the time of program application. If they don't hold a national teaching certificate by the time of application, they should acknowledge that they will need this in order to apply for IB certificate in teaching and learning, PYP.

HOW TO APPLY

All documents for the application should be submitted electronically during the announced application period. Interested students should submit the following documents (notarized/officially stamped when needed):

- For continuing pre-service teachers: official transcript from the university, if national teaching certificate is not available by the time of application
- For in-service teachers: undergraduate diploma and/or official teaching certificate (notarized or official record from the university awarded)
- Curriculum Vitae

- Two recommendation/reference letters from current or recent employers, supervisors or instructors
 - Letters must be written professionally in a Word document with the referees' signatures.
 - Letters must refer to the candidate's teaching skills and experiences if applicable.
- Letter of intention written by the candidate
 - Letter must refer to candidate's year(s) of teaching experience if applicable, educational philosophy, purpose of application, current knowledge about the IB programmes and level of commitment to the certificate program.

IB LEADERSHIP CERTIFICATES

IB advanced certificate in leadership research

Master of Arts in Applied Educational Leadership

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Applied Educational Leadership (AEL) MA is a world-class, fully online distance-learning program for middle or senior leaders in schools, colleges, universities, charities, edu-businesses and government. It is a powerful boost to personal development, employability and promotion. Students bring change to their professional contexts through personal study and research, enabled by high-quality dialogue with their tutors and global network of peers.

AEL attracts dedicated professionals from around the world in a range of educational institutions and roles, and they engage through the Moodle learning environment with the support of expert teachers and researchers in the field.

As an applied program, AEL will improve a student's understanding of educational leadership theory, enable them to apply it to their own working environment and to undertake research in their settings. It will foster students' continuing professional development, allowing them to consider issues related to the policy context of education. It will also give them the chance to think through, apply and evaluate strategies for leading change.

REQUIRED COURSES

To complete the full MA degree and be eligible for the IB certificate, students must complete two core modules (30 credits each), two out of four optional modules (30 credits each) and a dissertation (60 credits).

Normally, the core, optional and dissertation sections take a year each. There are two terms per year, starting in October and February. Students can defer any module if they need a break in their studies within a maximum five-year registration period. On average, students study around 10 hours a week over 4-month terms.

Core Modules

- Leading and Managing Educational Change and Improvement
- Leadership for the Learning Community

Optional Modules

- Developing Personal Leadership Skills
- Exploring Educational and Social Policy
- Finance and Resource Management
- Values, Vision and Moral Purpose.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

- A 2:2 honours degree from a UK university or its equivalent
- Several years of professional experience in education
- A current educational leadership role

Applicants who do not fully meet all requirements can make the case for their acceptance through a personal statement. We welcome applicants from non-traditional backgrounds.

IB certificate in teaching and learning

Teaching and Learning in a Global Context

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The Teaching and Learning in a Global Context is a postgraduate level training course resulting in qualifying for the IB certificate in teaching and learning, PYP, MYP or DP.

The course is offered on a rolling admission basis throughout the year and is self-paced, meaning the learner can advance at their own pace and schedule. The program typically takes learners 11 to 22 weeks to complete.

The online and collaborative design of DePaul's IBEC program enrich students' experiences with learning flexibility and meaningful engagement with IB educators. Academic content for each of the four courses that comprise the program was created through a collaboration of DePaul University faculty and International Baccalaureate educators and is therefore practical in nature and applicable immediately in the classroom. The learning activities connect learners with IB educators across the globe to provide personal and relevant information and insights about teaching IB in the MYP. Current IB teachers are among the faculty of the program and provide collaboration and expertise to guide student learning.

REQUIRED COURSES

Four fully online courses include:

- Curriculum Processes in the International Baccalaureate (PYP, MYP or DP)
- Assessment and Learning in the International Baccalaureate (PYP, MYP or DP)
- Teaching and Learning in the International Baccalaureate School (PYP, MYP or DP)
- Professional Learning in a Global Context (PYP, MYP or DP)

The courses do not receive academic credit but rather certificates of completion. Students enrolled in DePaul's undergraduate or graduate program in teacher preparation DO earn undergraduate credit for the courses as part of the larger curriculum.

IB certificate in leadership practice

Global Educational Leadership

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

This program provides candidates with expertise needed to be effective leaders within schools. The design and structure of the program aligns with DePaul University's educational leadership scope and sequence of courses, offering participants the most relevant and research-driven best practices of IB leadership. The progression of course content aligns with the IB Framework for Course Design and Delivery and extends the depth of learning. Throughout the course, participants are taught to shape and inform policy, collaborate with stakeholders, build consensus, coordinate institutional services and be accountable for strategic outcomes within an IB school. Participants address each domain of learning within the context of examining the human, organizational, political, social and technical systems of IB schools.

This program offers candidates two options, which are called Pathways. The first option, Pathway I, is for the candidate to complete the program as a part of gaining a PhD in Global Educational Leadership. Candidates must complete all the courses required by the PhD program in order to receive the PhD degree. The components of the IB certificate in leadership practice are embedded within the degree. The PhD program consists of 70 hours of study and a dissertation.

The second option, Pathway II, is a non-degree option. This option is an online certificate program for non-enrolled students. Candidates can complete this option as a self-paced program with four courses of study. The typical completion time is between 11 and 22 weeks.

Both options provide participants with learning that is focused on socially just leadership and the transformation of education at the local, regional and national levels.

REQUIRED COURSES

Pathway I: IB certificate embedded within the PhD in Global Educational Leadership (students receive 16 graduate credits with 4 credits for each IB course). Fully online program for enrolled students.

Visit the Global Educational Leadership PhD with IBEC Certification webpage to see all course requirements.

Pathway II: IB certificate in leadership practice. Fully online certificate program for non-enrolled students.

- Course 1: IB Leadership Theory and Practices
- Course 2: IB Leadership in Schools
- Course 3: Curriculum and Program Design in the International Baccalaureate

Secondary Master of Arts with Teacher Certification

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The IB certificate in teaching and learning is offered to our undergraduate and master's students enrolled in our secondary teacher education programs. Being mindful of the intense courses and practical load that our students take, we have designed our IB certificate coursework around a set of three modules. These online modules complement the coursework and fieldwork that our students do and allow them to dig deeply into the principles and practices of IB teaching and learning. The U-M School of Education is professionalizing the next generation of teachers through immersive, practice-based approaches informed by research. The option for students to elect the IB certificate in teaching and learning further empowers us to prepare teachers with knowledge and practices for their classrooms, and it strongly supports our diversity, inclusion, justice and equity initiatives within secondary teacher education.

Graduate Certificate in Global Education and Leadership

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

This accessible online program encompasses four courses leading to the IB certificate in leadership practice.

Well-structured and rigorous, the University of Missouri's leadership development program focuses on cultivating sound theoretical and practical understanding of the process of leadership in an IB context.

Examining global and local contexts, courses provide the theories, tools and resources for aspiring principals, curriculum leaders and other educators to lead colleagues and students to be critical, reflective and inquiring global stewards with refined intercultural skills.

Collaboration and idea-sharing with leaders in different cities and countries leads to the development of a global educator network, providing diverse and timely perspectives in education leadership and practice.

The program was created in alignment with the IB's standards of practice and intentionally designed as a global offering by faculty with extensive international, intercultural and educational leadership experience.

UNIQUE ATTRIBUTES OF PROGRAM

The International Education Program is an experiential online program designed to expose teachers to advanced academic techniques through the lens of lifelong learning and international-mindedness. By engaging differentiated models, candidates are able to pursue individualized goals while meeting the course requirements. Graduate candidates may continue with an additional 24 hours for the Master of Education in Curriculum and Instruction (MEd) with an IB focus. Transfer credits are considered on an individual basis. Undergraduate candidates will complete residency at an IB World School.
