The Diploma Programme (DP) is a rigorous pre-university course of study designed for students in the 16 to 19 age range. It is a broad-based two-year course that aims to encourage students to be knowledgeable and inquiring, but also caring and compassionate. There is a strong emphasis on encouraging students to develop intercultural understanding, open-mindedness, and the attitudes necessary for them to respect and evaluate a range of points of view.

The course is presented as six academic areas enclosing a central core. Students study two modern languages (or a modern language and a classical language), a humanities or social science subject, an experimental science, mathematics and one of the creative arts. Instead of an arts subject, students can choose two subjects from another area. It is this comprehensive range of subjects that makes the Diploma Programme a demanding course of study designed to prepare students effectively for university entrance. In each of the academic areas students have flexibility in making their choices, which means they can choose subjects that particularly interest them and that they may wish to study further at university.

Normally, three subjects (and not more than four) are taken at higher level (HL), and the others are taken at standard level (SL). The IB recommends 240 teaching hours for HL subjects and 150 hours for SL. Subjects at HL are studied in greater depth and breadth than at SL. In addition, three core elements—the extended essay, theory of knowledge and creativity, activity, service—are compulsory and central to the philosophy of the programme.

I. Course description and aims
The DP philosophy course provides students with an opportunity to undertake systematic critical inquiry into profound and challenging questions, such as: What does it mean to be human? What is the relationship between justice, freedom and equality? What do we mean when we say something is right or wrong? These abstract questions arise out of our everyday experiences, and the practice of philosophy deepens and clarifies our understanding of these questions, as well as possible responses.

The aim of the philosophy course is to engage students in philosophical activity, enabling them to:
• develop an inquiring and intellectually curious way of thinking
• appreciate the diversity of perspectives, traditions and approaches within philosophical thinking
• critically examine their own experiences and perspectives
• learn from the thinking of others
• articulate their own views, ideas and arguments
• apply their philosophical knowledge and skills to the world around them.

II. Curriculum model overview
The DP philosophy course comprises a shared core syllabus for all SL and HL students, consisting of the study of the core theme “Being human”, one optional theme and one prescribed text, as well as the completion of the internal assessment exercise. In addition, students at HL must study one further optional theme as well as the HL extension topic “Philosophy and contemporary issues”. The recommended teaching hours for each element of the course are summarised below.

III. Assessment model

There are four assessment objectives for the DP philosophy course. By the end of the DP philosophy course, students will be expected to achieve the following assessment objectives.

Assessment objective 1: Knowledge and understanding

- Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of philosophical concepts, issues and arguments.
- Identify philosophical issues present in both philosophical and non-philosophical stimuli.
- At HL only, demonstrate understanding of the nature, function, meaning and methodology of philosophical activity.

Assessment objective 2: Application and analysis

- Explain and analyse philosophical concepts, issues and arguments.
- Construct and develop clear explanations, making use of relevant supporting examples.
- Analyse the philosophical issues present in both philosophical and non-philosophical stimuli.
- At HL only, analyse the nature, function, meaning and methodology of philosophical activity.
Assessment objective 3: Synthesis and evaluation

- Evaluate philosophical concepts, issues and arguments.
- Construct and develop balanced and focused arguments, making use of relevant supporting evidence.
- Discuss points of view and come to reasoned conclusions.
- At HL only, evaluate the nature, function, meaning and methodology of philosophical activity.

Assessment objective 4: Use and application of appropriate skills

- Produce clear and well-structured written responses.
- Demonstrate appropriate and precise use of philosophical vocabulary.
- In the internal assessment task, demonstrate evidence of research skills, organization and referencing.
